PREFACE.

General satisfaction, I am glad to record, was accorded to the last or eleventh edition of the KNIGHTAGE. One or two suggestions were received which have been incorporated in this edition.

Although it has been a work of considerable labour, it has also given me a great deal of pleasure to compile this Knightage. The information presented herein has been collected from Official Sources and from facts supplied by members themselves.

I think it is the only publication which gives the Christian name used with the Prefix, and from the numerous enquiries we receive from Public Officials on this particular point this feature alone justifies the addition of one more to the already long list of similar works of reference.

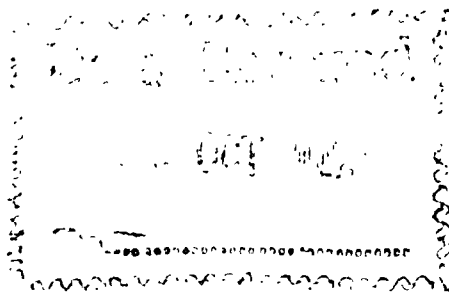

I hope the issue will be of use to the Public generally, and that in time to come the series will be of interest and value, not only to the Biographer, but also to those concerned in genealogical research of all kinds.

Most books of reference of this nature are usually published just before Christmas or after the New Year, but I deliberately adopt another plan, namely, to bring our book out as soon as possible after the list of Birthday Honours has been issued. This gives sufficient time to place the new Honours in order and thus bring the book up to date.

Mr. A. T. Butler, Secretary to Garter King of Arms, and Mr. Hubert Whelbourn, Clerk to the Society, have greatly assisted me in seeing this book through the press.

THE IMPERIAL SOCIETY OF KNIGHTS BACHELOR.

ORIGIN.

Early in 1908 an informal meeting of Knights Bachelor was held in the House of Commons, primarily with the object of taking into consideration, with a view of contesting, the action of the Walker Trustees of Edinburgh, as holders of the office of Usher of the White Rod, in demanding the payment of fees to them by the recipients of honours.

The present Principal (Sir William Bull, M.P.), who was known to have made a study of Heraldry, was asked to act as a convenor of a formal meeting, and invitations were sent out, with the result that the Society was duly formed and a council and officers elected, and now there are nearly 800 names inscribed on the Society's Roll, representing the majority of the existing recipients of the honour. Since the Society was started 1,121 have joined.

OBJECTS.

The objects of the Society, which was formally constituted on April 27th, 1908, enjoying the approval of the Central Chancery of the Orders of Knighthood, St. James's Palace, and the co-operation of the College of Arms, are to provide a permanent Habitation in London, to continue the Registers, dating from the twelfth century, uphold the status, maintain the rights of precedence, and generally to protect the interests of the Degree.

The Home Secretary (Viscount Gladstone) was further pleased to give his official recognition to the Society, and, in conformity with, and in pursuance of, such recognition, the Home Office now sends an official notification of the creation of all Knights Bachelor, from which the Society's Register is compiled.

ROYAL RECOGNITION.

In recognition of the Society's aims and objects His Majesty King George was graciously pleased in March, 1912, to command that henceforth the Society should be known as "THE IMPERIAL SOCIETY OF KNIGHTS BACHELOR," which mark of distinction was a source of much gratification to the members, spread as they are over every part of the Empire.

PROCEDURE.

In the year 1902 a radical change was made in the procedure connected with promotions of honour. The Central Chancery of the Orders of Knighthood (which was instituted by His Majesty King Edward VII. in that year) now controls all procedure connected with such promotion and ceremonial, with certain exceptions. One of these exceptions concerns Knights Bachelor and some matters in connection with them, which remain the province of the Home Office, though no current list is published by the Department.

REPRESENTATION.

Prior to the formation of the Society there was no one to speak on behalf of the Degree, and as no member could protest individually, several classes in the State have, by various patents and ordinances, been assigned precedence over Knights Bachelor, and though they are the most ancient Order of Knights, their rights have been progressively infringed.

MISUSE OF PREFIX.

In the same way there was no machinery to prevent the unwarrantable assumption of the prefix "Sir" by individuals having no right to that honour, the Order, in consequence, frequently suffering in dignity. Knights Bachelor may rest assured that the Council will give prompt attention to any such cases that may arise in the future; and an individual representing himself to be a Knight, and obtaining credit thereby, was, at the Warwick Assizes, on the 5th January, 1910, sentenced to imprisonment.

ROLL OF KNIGHTS BACHELOR.

To many it will doubtless be a surprise to learn that during the period between the 18th December, 1902, and the formation of the Society, there was no official roll or record of Knights Bachelor, and it was the first work of the Society to supply this omission which has now been accomplished.

In the Middle Ages individual Heralds made occasional notes of the dubbings of Knights ; but such notes are known and admitted to be most incomplete. In the seventeenth century a Register of Knighthood was instituted by King James I. This Register is preserved at the College of Arms, and extends down to the year 1902 ; but it is not, and does not claim to be, a complete record of all the Knights dubbed within this period.

There was a strong feeling among Knights Bachelor that a properly authenticated and officially recognised Roll of Knights should be brought into existence and continuously kept up to date ; this duty of establishing a permanent record the Society immediately took in hand, with the result that a Roll of Knights is now kept up by Garter King of Arms as a continuation of the earlier Register mentioned above.

PROCEDURE IN CONNECTION WITH GARTER'S ROLL.

Immediately upon nomination the name of every Knight Bachelor is recorded on the Vellum Roll, together with the date. Garter then communicates with the Knight and arranges for him to call at the College of Arms and sign the Roll, no expense to the Knight being involved.

CERTIFICATE.

The Society is now prepared on application to issue to Members a Certificate stating that the honour claimed by such member has been duly authenticated. This Certificate will be of use for furnishing to companies, &c., and members thus saved the expense and trouble of a production of the " Gazette " for legal purposes. The fee for this Certificate is half-a-guinea.

INSIGNIA.

MEMORANDUM ON " THE INSIGNIA " OF KNIGHTS.

By Sir HARRY COURTHOPE-MUNROE, K.C., Standing Counsel to the Society.

1. The question having been raised and discussed of the right of a Knight to wear on ceremonial and other appropriate occasions a Collar of S as a distinguishing mark of his rank, the following notes may be of interest to the Members of the Society.

2. In the " Encyclopædia Britannica " (vol. 6, p. 684) it is stated as follows :—A collar was part of the insignia of an order of knighthood. The collar of Esses (or SS) is Lancastrian and was used by the Duke of Lancaster's son Henry of Bolingbroke. The oldest effigy bearing it is that of Sir John Swinford in Spratton Church, who died in 1371 (temp. Edward III) and was a follower of John of Gaunt.

[The author of this article is Oswald Barron, F.S.A., Editor of the Ancestor 1902-05, Hon. Genealogist to Standing Council of the Honourable Society of the Baronetage.]

The "English Dictionary on Historical Principles," by Murray, (vol. 11, p. 614), states in reference to the Collar of S.S., S'S or Esses, as follows:—"An ornamental chain consisting of a series of S's either joined together side by side or fastened in a row on a band or ribbon; originally worn as a badge by the adherents of the House of Lancaster."

"1532-3 Act 24 Henry VIII c. 13: That no manne oncesse he be a knight . . . weare any coler of golde named a coler of S."

"(1598) Speght. Chaucer's Wks. B iij [Gower] lyeth buried St. Saviour's, Southwark) . . . with his image lying over him . . . a collar of esses gold about his necke . . . being the ornament of a Knight."

3. The meaning of SS has long been the subject of conjecture and has given rise to the recent correspondence in the Times of June, 1924, by Sir William Bull, Sir Arthur Shipley and others, and it is suggested that the right explanation of SS is "Souvent me souvient," meaning "Forget me not," which appears above the door of Christ's College, Cambridge.

4. These excerpts suffice to show that long prior to the Statute 24 Henry VIII (1532) hereinafter referred to and subsequently thereto the collar of SS was part of the knighly insignia or uniform.

5. The Act of 24 Henry VIII c. 13 (1532) is entitled "An Acte for Reformacyon of Excesse in Apparayle," and is in the following terms (save as to the spelling):—

"Where before this time divers laws ordinances and Statutes have been with great deliberation and advice provided established and devised for the necessary repressing avoiding and expelling of the inordinate excess daily more and more used in the sumptuous and costly array and apparel accustomedly worn in this realm, whereof has ensued and daily do chance such sundry high and notable inconveniences as be to the great manifest and notorious detriment of the common weal, the subversion of good and politic order in knowledge and distinction of people according to their estate pre-eminences dignities and degrees, and to the utter impoverishment and undoing of many inexpert and light persons inclined to pride mother of all vices; which good laws notwithstanding the outrageous excess therein is rather from time to time

“increased than diminished, either by the occasion of the perverse “and forward manners and usage of people, or for that errors and “abuses once rooted and taken into long custom be not “facile” (easily)
 “and at once without some moderation for a time relinquished and “reformed: In consideration whereof and for a reasonable order
 “and remedy like to be observed performed and continually kept,
 “It is by the King’s Highness the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and
 “the Commons in this present Parliament assembled and by authority
 “of the same enacted, established and ordained in manner and form “following:—”

The Act then goes on to provide as follows:—

First that none but the King and Royal Family shall wear Purple Silk or Cloth of Gold-Tissue, with a certain exception for Dukes and Marquesses, next that no man under the estate of a Duke, Marquis, Earl and their children or under the degree of a Baron, unless he be a Knight of the Garter, shall wear Foreign woollen cloth—velvets crimson, scarlet or blue nor furs.

Then as follows:—

“And that no man onelesse he be a Knyght after the sd Feaste
 “(the Purification of Our Lady 1533) weare any color of Gold named
 “a color of S.”

6. The question under consideration largely turns on the true effect and meaning of the above Statute. It is to be noted that it does not entitle any person to wear any kind of apparel whatever, but on the contrary it prohibits under penalties of forfeiture of the apparel and a daily fine, the wearing thereof by certain persons designated by the Act.

7. It is, I think, clear from the preamble above referred to that the Act was passed because notwithstanding the customs of the Realm and the Acts in force there had grown up errors and abuses in array and apparel, owing to the illegal actions of certain persons which were likely, unless dealt with by Parliament, to be claimed in the future as rights.

8. I regard this Statute, therefore, as being declaratory of these laws or customs and not an Enabling Act; that is to say, a Statute which makes it lawful to do something which would not otherwise be lawful.

Statutes are described as declaratory, or remedial, according to the different nature of their objects or provisions. Declaratory statutes are—where the old custom of the kingdom being almost fallen into disuse, or become disputable, parliament has thought proper, in perpetuum rei testimonium, and for avoiding all doubts and difficulties, to declare what the common law is and ever hath been. [See 1 Blackstone's Commentaries, (1765), and Stephen's Commentaries on the Laws of England (1903), p. 36.]

Usually a declaratory Act contains a preamble and also the word "declared" or its equivalent as well as the word "enacted." Now this Act contains a very full and lengthy preamble and the important operative words are "enacted established and ordeyned."

9. This Act of Henry VIII (1532) was repealed by 1 Jac cap 25 (1603) together with an Act of 1 and 2 Phil. & Mary c. 2 (1554), which prohibited any person other than the son and heir of a knight and certain other persons of lesser degree from wearing silk under penalty of fine and imprisonment.

10. The position now would appear to be that in the 14th and 15th and 16th centuries knights were entitled to and did wear a collar of S—that the Act of 24 Henry VIII (inter alia) confirmed this right as then existing and imposed certain penalties on the persons therein designated who acted in breach of the Restrictions set out in the Statute—the Act of James I merely repealed these penalties and left matters as they were before the passing of the Act of 24 Henry VIII c. 13. Assuming that to be the true legal effect of the Statutes mentioned I do not see how it can be successfully contended that knights have by the repeal of the Act of Henry VIII lost their right to wear the collar of S, as their old customary right to wear it, confirmed by that Statute, remains unaffected so far as I have been able to ascertain by any legislation order or decree.

11. Maxwell on the construction of Statutes, 6th Edition, at p. 728, states: "Where an Act expired or was repealed it was formerly regarded, in the absence of provision to the contrary, as having never existed except as to matters and transactions passed and closed."

This rule was laid down by Lord Tenterden in Surtees v. Ellison (1829) 9 B. & C. 750 at p. 752: "It has been long established that, when an Act of Parliament is repealed, it must be considered (except as to transactions passed and closed) as if it had never existed."

Tindal C. J. in Kay v. Goodwin (1830) 6 Bing. 576, speaks in similar language:—

"I take the effect of repealing a Statute to be to obliterate it as completely from the records of the Parliament as if it had never been passed and it must be considered as a law that never existed except for the purpose of those actions which were commenced and prosecuted and concluded while it was an existing law."

12. It is, I think, clear from Coke on Lyttelton (Co. L. 115a) that mere disuse of a customary right (as here by individual knights) in no way affects it, the right can only be affected by some proceeding adverse to it so as to cause an interruption in the right, e.g., by the passing of an Act of Parliament, or the decision of a competent legal tribunal.

In this connection it must be borne in mind that until the bringing into being of the Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor by the action of Sir William Bull, Knights were scattered units without any organisation or representative Body.

13. The correct conclusion would therefore seem to be that prior to the Statute of 24 Henry VIII and apart from that Act, Knights had the right to use and wear a Collar of S and that that right still exists.

HERALDRY.

During the past two years several Members of the Order have availed themselves of the services of the Principal for advice on Heraldic questions. Perhaps it is not surprising to find that men who have been actively employed in other spheres of usefulness are ignorant of the position with regard to Crest and Coat Armour.

As a matter of fact, very few persons are armigerous in the strict sense of the word. That is to say, that the Coats of Arms they use have been properly registered, or brought up to date at the College of Arms. Some men use the Crest or Coat which has descended to them from their fathers or grandfathers, but which really they have no right to use. There is no such thing as a "prescriptive right to arms." Others have in many cases quite innocently taken the Arms of families of the same name perhaps on the advice of a "heraldic stationer."

Many persons who desire to found a family and who wish to have a Coat of Arms legalized have come to the Principal, and he has had the pleasure of acting as intermediary with the College of Arms in having matters put right or petitioning for a new Coat of Arms of a dignified and heraldic character.

The services of the Principal are, of course, entirely honorary, but he is only too pleased to give information as to the fees payable, and other details.

The Council are gratified that this Branch of our increasing, and it is hoped that other Members of so desire, will avail themselves of the services

REGISTRY AND LIBRARY.

At the Registry accommodation has been provided so that members visiting London may transact temporary business, dictate their correspondence, and arrange for interviews, &c. Letters addressed to members, at The Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor, The College of Arms, London, E.C.4, England, will be retained in the Registry or re-directed in accordance with instructions given.

A number of works of reference are available in the Library for the use of members, and information will be gladly given on questions of heraldry, grants of arms and genealogy. All Knights are invited to contribute, by loan or donation, copies of their published works, memorials, pictures or other objects of general interest to their Degree, and the nucleus of a valuable collection has already been formed, thanks to the generosity of certain members.

SUBSCRIPTION.

The subscription to the Society was fixed at £1 1s. a year. A payment of £5 in one amount confers life membership, after which there is no further liability. On the admission of a member to the Society an authentic record of his name and description is entered in the Roll, and the honour conferred upon him in due course is registered on Garter's Roll of Knights Bachelor. Each member is entitled to a copy of the Society's Certificate containing a record of his creation, &c., and also the annual "Knightage," giving dates of precedence, new creations, &c.

ENROLMENT.

It is evident that the attainment of the more important of the objects which the Council has under consideration is dependent upon the Society receiving the support of the great majority of those on whom the honour of Knighthood has been conferred, and the Council therefore trust that they may see a further number of the Knights who are not yet members of the Society entered on the Roll of Membership in the near future.

ANNUAL DINNER.

The Annual Dinner of the Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor was held at Princes' Hotel, Piccadilly, W., on Thursday evening, 26th June, 1924. The Principal, the Rt. Hon. SIR WILLIAM BULL (Maltravers Herald Extraordinary), occupied the Chair, and the following were present :—

[Extract from the verbatim report of G. E. Franey, Esq., O.B.E., of T. A. Reid & Co., official reporters to the Society.]

“THE KING.”

In accordance with custom the Senior Knight present, SIR CLARENCE SMITH, proposed the Toast of “The King,” which was loyally honoured.

“THE QUEEN, QUEEN ALEXANDRA, THE PRINCE OF WALES AND THE OTHER MEMBERS OF THE ROYAL FAMILY.”

SIR SQUIRE BANCROFT : Gentleman, I have the honour to ask you to drink the health of Her Majesty Queen Mary. I also ask you to drink the health of Queen Alexandra, with whom I am sure we all feel deep sympathy in the great personal loss, after so many years' friendship, of that great and gallant creature, Sir Dighton Probyn. (Hear, hear.) The weight of this affliction must have been very severe upon her, and I am sure we sympathise with her most deeply. With regard to H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, I can only say, in the words of Shakespeare : “Your noble grandfather doth live again in you.” (Cheers.)

The Toast was loyally honoured.

“THE SOCIETY.”

SIR CHARLES ALLOM, in proposing the toast of “The Society,” said: Brother Knights, I cannot help feeling a sense of pride in proposing the toast which is put down against my name when I think that I am standing amongst a number of men, everyone of whom has achieved something notable. I look back into the past, and I think of the origin of the honour which has been conferred upon us. I remember that it was first instituted for achievements which took place on the field of battle. If you look in the “Knightage” I think you will find there is printed the oath that was taken by those early Knights. My mind then goes down to the time of Magna Charta, and I think of the work that was done by the Knights in those days. But I cannot help feeling that the work which you have done, which you are doing, and which you will do in the future is one of extreme sternness. You are not fighting the mere physical enemies of mankind, although you have all shown during the Great War what you could do in that direction, but you are fighting the more subtle things which have ever come into the lives of men, of things which the Knights of old knew little. I think, for instance, of the physician and the surgeon, and particularly the pathologist of to-day, who by his wonderful research is gradually undoing the necessity even for some surgery. I think of the chemist, of the man occupied in dealing with public health, without whose work great communities like London would not exist, and in which our Principal has taken such a remarkable share. I think, moreover, of the lawyers without whom the stability of civilised races could not exist. I, think again, of the engineer whose work seems to have improved the conditions of mankind, the only animal by the way who ever was thoroughly dissatisfied with his lot. (Laughter.) For instance, man seems to have been equipped particularly badly with powers of locomotion in comparison with other living beings. If you reflect upon that you will be amazed at his slowness of speed compared with that of other animals. Yet by his wits he has slowly and steadily outdone them all, or perhaps not quite all. He has not outdone the fish, although he has beaten every bird as regards speed. On the earth there can be no question that he is the fastest animal that ever lived. But the curious fact about this dissatisfied human being seems to be that he is everlastingly progressive, and you, gentlemen, represent to me the sum total of all the qualities that man has developed which has enabled him progressively to develop his strain of civilisation and evolution. When I look round this table I think of the delightful Art of the last speaker, which has so frequently added to our enjoyment of life. (Cheers.) I think of the accomplished President of the Royal Academy, who I regret is not present with us to-night, due to a serious accident; I am sure we all hope he is recovering. (Hear, hear.) I think of those of you who have contributed to Literature, to Astronomy, to all the Arts, even the Science of war. But I would suggest to you that your battle is not yet finished. The most serious battle which you have to face in the future, in the midst of the separate work which each of you is doing, is the battle against ignorance and prejudice which to-day is handicapping our chances of progress more than anything else. One of the most distressing things is that that which calls itself "Labour" has been cruelly deceived and infamously robbed by those who profess to lead it. There can be nothing worse, in my judgment, than the wilful output of working men under trades unionism to-day, and what is even worse is perhaps the easy prey they become to the Communists, who have said that "the shadow of Great Britain is upon Europe." My brother Knights, I venture to suggest that each of you, apart from your ordinary battle in life, will look upon it as your duty in the future to get rid of prejudices, to do everything you can to combat those powers which are trying to use the ignorant part of the democracy to undo the work which your forefathers mainly accomplished in setting up that law, order and good government under which we have lived with such blessings. (Hear, hear.)

In proposing this toast, I cannot fail to tell you that I have the greatest pleasure in coupling with it the name of my old friend, Sir William Bull. (Cheers.) I doubt if I have among any of my friends an older friend than he. I look back to my boyhood days, and I remember that he was my senior then as he is to-day. I remember his garden; I remember the wonderful enterprise with which he tunnelled it and made fishponds and so on; of the collections of curios which were objects of almost jealousy and veneration to us other boys. I cannot help feeling that his work for the public welfare was founded in the very enterprise and energy with which he, as a very small boy, sought to control even the earth over which he had domain. (Hear, hear.)

The activity of Sir William Bull is well known to everybody, but it is merely an evolution of the marvellous energy which existed even in his youth. Therefore, gentlemen, without further delay I propose to you the toast of the Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor and I couple with it the name of my friend, Sir William Bull (Cheers.)

The Toast was enthusiastically honoured.

THE CHAIRMAN, who was very warmly received on rising to respond said: My Lord and Brother Knights, I greet you all. I am extremely sorry that Sir Aston Webb is not able to be with us to-night. As you know, he met with a very severe accident on the eve of the opening of the Royal Academy, and it was only by the mercy of God that he was not killed. From time to time I have made enquiries at his house, and I hear that he is progressing as favourably as can be expected under the circumstances. As he is a member of our Council, I think we might send him a message from the dinner to-night, wishing him a speedy return to complete health and strength. (Cheers.) I will not trouble you with the names of the others who are not able to be present with us to-night, partly because I want to make my speech as brief as possible. We have three rules: firstly, that short speeches are always made here; secondly, we do not have any music because we think it interrupts the flow of talk; and thirdly, as most of us are in the tea-time of life we like to catch early trains and get home. I, for my sins, have to go somewhere else to-night after this dinner, where divisions are pregnant. (Laughter.) I will not allude to my boyhood's past, to which my old friend Sir Charles Allom has referred. I can only say that he is the oldest friend I have. We knew each other when we were quite small boys in Bayswater. We had many adventures together. I will not tell you of his lurid past because the Press are present (laughter), but I thank him very much indeed for his kind words with regard to myself.

With regard to the Society, the number of Knights who have joined since its commencement in 1908 is 1,121. The present Membership is nearly 800, 150 of whom reside abroad. The increase of Membership since the war has been as follows: number of Knights who had joined at the end of 1918, 776; at the end of 1920, 893; at the end of 1921, 967; at the end of 1922, 1,047; at the end of 1923, 1,096; and the number who have joined up to date is, as stated, 1,121.

I am exceedingly sorry to have to report the death of Sir Roper Parkington, who had been a diligent member of the Council ever since the formation of the Society. He was one of the Knights who joined us at first; he was our treasurer for many years; and took a deep interest in the work of the Society, and I am grieved he has gone from us. I am also very sorry to say that our very good friend, Garter King-of-Arms, Sir Henry Farnham-Burke, is not able to be present with us to-night; but we welcome his chief, the Deputy Earl Marshal, Viscount FitzAlan of Derwent. (Cheers.) I said to him that I should not say anything about the Insignia. (Laughter.) He occupies a great and ancient hereditary position in the College of Arms, and I do not think it is right in his presence to say anything about the Insignia beyond this, that when I put my mind to a thing I never let it go, and I do not intend to let this go now. (Hear, hear.) Our Honorary Standing Counsel, Sir Harry Courthope-Munroe, has made one or two discoveries which have escaped my attention, and later on I am going to ask him to say a few words about them which I am sure will be of interest to you. Other than that, I am not going to say anything about the Insignia.

The Council are now engaged in compiling a list of one hundred distinguished Knights Bachelors. It is a matter which requires a great deal of thought and care, and there is a good deal of interesting controversy about it; but personally I think it is a good thing that we should make a list of one hundred of the most distinguished members of our Degree. To give you some idea of what we mean I will give you the names of some of them if I may : Sir Thomas More, Sir Thomas Gresham, Sir Humphrey Gilbert, Sir Richard Grenville, Sir Francis Walsingham, Sir Francis Drake, Sir Philip Sidney, Sir Walter Raleigh, Sir Edward Coke, Sir Peter Paul Rubens, Sir Anthony Vandyke, Sir Matthew Hale, Sir John Churchill, Sir Christopher Wren, Sir Peter Lely, Sir Godfrey Kneller, Sir Cloudesley Shovel, Sir Isaac Newton, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Sir Richard Arkwright, Sir Humphrey Davy, Sir Henry Raeburn, Sir John Franklin, Sir John Frederick Herschel, Sir John Rennie, Sir John Soane, Sir Francis Chantrey, Sir David Wilkie, Sir Marc Isambard Brunel, Sir Edwin Landseer, Sir Joseph Paxton, Sir Charles Wheatstone, and Sir Michael Costa. Those are all Knights that have passed away ; but I think you will see from this list that we ought to be proud of our Degree—(hear, hear)—because the Knights of England have done as much for the Empire as any other set of persons. Therefore, we are always proud and pleased to meet in this informal way at our gathering, once a year, when we can exchange these sentiments between ourselves and meet each other round the dinner table.

The Society continues to increase. We are very grateful indeed to Garter King-of-Arms for giving us housing room in the College of Arms. (Hear, hear.) It adds to our status. We have a very large correspondence with Knights in various parts of the Empire, and we are delighted to-night to see so many Knights here who have come over for the Wembley Exhibition and who have taken a foremost part in that great undertaking. (Cheers.) In that connection, I should like to mention that several members of this Society have taken a prominent part in the work connected with the formation of that Exhibition, among them being Sir Charles Allom, who proposed the Toast, who was one of the first and foremost of the contractors and was presented to H.M. The King at the opening of the Exhibition. Then there are Sir Edward Lucas, of South Australia ; Sir Montagu Sharp, Sir Ernest Wild, Sir Henry Proctor, Sir John Bland Sutton, Sir Aston Webb, Sir Stewart Stockman, Sir Robert Bruce, Sir William Davies, Sir Harvey Adamson, Sir James Begbie, Sir Arthur Binning, Sir Malcolm Hogg and Sir Marshall Reid, all of whom are members of this Society. In the Colonial list there is Sir Maynard Hedstrom, and among others included are Sir James Agg-Gardner, Sir Edward Stern, Sir Henry Whitehead, Sir Sydney Skinner and Sir Edwin Stockton. I think the fact that all those members of the Society were actively engaged in and connected with the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley is another proof that a Society of this kind was needed, and that by banding ourselves together we can protect and advance our Degree.

I will not say anything further because I want the speeches to be as short as possible. It will, therefore, only thank Sir Charles Allom once again for the kind way in which he proposed the Toast, and you, Brother Knights, for the hearty way in which you received it. (Cheers.)

SIR MALCOLM FRASER, Bt., G.B.E., in proposing the Toast said : Sir Principal, My Lord and Brother Knights. By custom and usage and by a very wise rule of modern chivalry the proposer of this Toast is enabled to couple with it the name of one of the principal guests, and therefore escapes the somewhat invidious position of either sins of omission or commission so far as other Guests are concerned whom we all welcome equally heartily to-night. I am particularly glad to be the proposer of this Toast because for some years Lord FitzAlan was my Chief, and I hope my friend, up to the proposing of this Toast at any rate. I am afraid one's style is a little cramped, as you, Sir Principal, have ruled out the Insignia and Lord FitzAlan will not like too much said about himself. I should like to say, however, that during my connection with Lord FitzAlan I had perhaps a unique opportunity of gauging his wisdom in council, his courage in action and that modesty of manner by means of which he has endeared himself to all. Lord FitzAlan was perhaps one of our most popular Chief Whips. (Cheers.) For years he guided the counsels of the Party to which he was attached, and as you will know, a man who can speak his mind to his leaders and guide them in the way they should go, and also retain their affections and the affections of his followers in the House must be possessed of much valuable wisdom and tact. The members of the House of Commons are like a lot of school boys. They have high ideals, but they require to be restrained, and the man who can do that without damping enthusiasm is a man who is valued by his Leader and revered by his followers. (Cheers.) During the early days of the war Viscount FitzAlan, more than anyone else, kept the parties together in this country, and at a time when our fortunes were at zero, laid the foundations which made for political cohesion and for the winning of the war in the end. (Hear, hear.) There is also one other point on which perhaps you will allow me to say a word about him (although he would not allow me to do so if I asked his permission)—and that is that although he might have held as high office as any in the Cabinet, he gave up all thought of occupying such a position, and by becoming Viceroy of Ireland at a time of extreme danger—(hear, hear)—when Sinn Féin was at its worst in Ireland, he felt that he could do more good, not to his Party, but to the country as a whole. By becoming Viceroy he sacrificed his political career in order to safeguard the interests of this country and of the Empire. (Cheers.) It was a post of real personal danger at the time, and I know I shall be voicing the feeling of my Brother Knights in congratulating Lady FitzAlan on the part which she played in being beside her husband during the whole of that time of distress in Ireland. (Cheers.) I have just said that Viscount FitzAlan is a modest man. I should like to have said a great deal more about him, and I could have said it if he had not been present.

We have been told by the Principal that we must not say anything about the Insignia. But in welcoming Lord FitzAlan here to-night, I may be forgiven perhaps for reminding his Lordship that his forebear, the first Duke of Norfolk, when he was Earl Marshal (as Lord FitzAlan is now Deputy Earl Marshal), was responsible at the coronation of Richard III for the ceremonial in connection with the Dubbing of Knights. And I have been interested to read in an old account of this Pageant that on this occasion Richard III knighted his natural son, Richard of Gloucester, and the then Spanish Ambassador amongst others, and that the process was, in the words of the chronicler:—"by putting a collar of gold round his neck, striking him on the shoulder thrice, and in other ways according to the usage of the Land." I must not carry that further. Perhaps, however, I may be allowed to indicate that for which we do not ask. I was very much interested in reading Sir William Bull's excellent book in which he chronicles what happened in the old days. We do not ask, for example, for the procedure which apparently took place in connection with the degrading of a false Knight. I will not go into details, but according to Sir William Bull's version, after the Knight had been brought in, his helmet taken off and his golden spurs removed: "Then the heralds proclaiming him a disloyal miscreant, he was thrown down the stage with a rope." (Laughter.) We do not ask for that privilege, my Lord, but if we happened to get it I suppose there would be an appeal to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals which has lately been successful in stopping another form of Rodeo steer throwing. (Laughter.) Nor do we ask for the re-institution of all the details of Dubbing a Knight as set out in the interesting history of the Principal, except that I see that reference is made to a banquet, which we would desire to retain. We can dispense with most of the apparatus; we can dispense with the sword which most of us would find would impede our actions in private life; we have already the golden spur enshrined in our minds to spur us onward in our several vocations and enterprises; but we cannot dispense with the dinner which the chronicler said, in these words was always given at the end: "and being all thus seated they were entertained with a delicate banquet or collation, and so the ceremony ended." We cannot dispense with a dinner because it does give us an opportunity of welcoming our guests, as we do to-night, and it gives me now the opportunity of proposing on your behalf the toast of "The Guests" coupled with the name of Viscount FitzAlan of Derwent. (Cheers.)

The Toast was enthusiastically honoured.

VISCOUNT FITZALAN OF DERWENT, G.C.V.O., D.S.O., who was received with hearty cheering on rising to respond, said: On behalf of my fellow guests I beg to return our most grateful thanks for the honour you have done to this Toast, and I beg especially to return my own personal thanks to my old friend Sir Malcolm Fraser for the far too eulogistic terms which he has used as regards myself. I can assure you, as I can assure him, that I value them none the less because of my warm appreciation of him personally, and the great services he rendered to the country in the work he undertook and performed so ably at a time when I was also associated with him. I am also, Sir William, very pleased indeed to be able to be here to-night under your Presidency. I doubt whether there is anybody in this assembly who is more fitted to speak of Sir William Bull's qualifications than I am. For many years it was my duty to whip him (Laughter), and I can assure you I got to know him very well. He was always responsive to the lash without any effort on my part in having to lay it on unduly hard. (Laughter.) I never remember anybody more ready, more willing and more energetic to do what he was asked to do in the right cause and the good cause, than my old and valued friend. (Cheers.) Gentlemen, I should like, if I may do so without impertinence, to congratulate this Society on having Sir William Bull as its chief. (Cheers.) If I may do so without further impertinence I should like to say that, so far as I am able to judge in these matters, when this Society was first started, some fifteen years ago, it was quite time it was started. It was time that this ancient Degree looked after its own interests, its own duties and its own advantages. To mention only one comparatively small point, you all know that cases occurred of people who had no business whatever to do so using the title "Sir." By binding yourselves together in a Society of this kind, of this ancient Degree (for after all you are a very, very young Society in a very, very old Order (cheers) to look after and watch over your interests, you are not only doing the right thing, but the proper thing, and the dutiful thing in the interests of your own Degree. (Hear, hear.)

Now I am going to be still more impertinent, because I am going to say this—because I cannot help feeling, perhaps I may be wrong—that there are some members of your Degree who do not belong to this Imperial Society and who ought to belong to it, and who would perhaps belong to it if it was sufficiently widely known. After all, you now exist and have existed for some twelve years under and by command of His Majesty the King himself. He commanded you to have as your title "The Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor." (Cheers.) I suggest that that being so, if that were brought home to the Knights Bachelors as a whole I can hardly conceive that there would be one who would not hurry in and become a member of this Society. (Hear, hear.) And I say that specially for this reason. About the "Insignia" I am not going to say anything except that whatever you wish and think right for the benefit of your Degree would be much more easily attained if it was understood that it was the practically unanimous wish and feeling of the members of the Degree, and not merely a Society in the Degree, even as illustrious as yours is, that I have the pleasure of addressing here to-night. (Hear, hear.)

Gentlemen, I wish this Society every possible success.

As Sir William stated, that there are here this year probably more Knights from Overseas than is usually the case. That in itself is a great thing to be thankful for, because I feel quite certain that I am only voicing the opinion of every Knight in this room when I say that anything that brings together our Overseas Brothers is an encouragement and stimulant to us to work to hold together for the good of the Empire. (Cheers.) Sir William, I congratulate you on the success which has so far attended this Imperial Society. I hope you will prosper, as I am sure you will, and prove worthy of the great and ancient Degree to which you belong. (Cheers.)

THE CHAIRMAN : Before I call upon Sir Rider Haggard to propose the next toast, I will ask our Honorary Standing Counsel, Sir Harry Courthope Munroe, to say a few words with regard to the Insignia. It does not touch upon the question which I promised Lord FitzAlan should not be referred to. We are not going into the question of the right to the Insignia or not, but Sir Harry Courthope-Munroe in the course of his researches has come across a fact or two which I think may be of interest to you. I will now ask him to say a word or two about it.

(SIR HARRY COURTHOPE-MUNRO, K.C., made a delightful and interesting speech in non-legal language of his views on the question of the Insignia which was listened to with great attention, but with a view to saving space his speech has been omitted, and a paper he has prepared containing the points he made appears at Page 7.)

“ MEMBERS OVERSEAS.”

SIR RIDER HAGGARD, K.B.E., in proposing the toast, said : Mr. Principal, My Lord and Brother Knights, I have been asked to propose a toast that really needs, as it were, no proposing because you are all so enthusiastically in accord with it, namely, that of our Members Overseas. It is obvious to all of us that knighthood is not a local institution ; it is an Empire institution. What are we called ? Not the Royal Society of Knights Bachelor, but “ The Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor.” More than that, if you take the trouble to look back in the most cursory fashion you will find that some of the most distinguished members of our Order earned distinction overseas in past days, and indeed were the founders of the present Empire. We think of the names of Drake and of Raleigh, names that thrill every Englishman whenever he hears them, and will to the end of time while we are a race. To-day Knights have served their country overseas in every branch of our far-reaching Dominions with distinction and in many ways. The Knights overseas have served the Crown, for instance, in law, in medicine, in administration, and have earned their honour not capriciously, not for this cause or for that which may be questioned, but by sheer hard work. Therefore, they are peculiarly entitled to our praise and honour. I should like to refer, if I may, to a subject which we are not supposed to mention but on which I notice that every speaker has dwelt, namely, that of the Insignia. (Laughter.) Brother Knights, it so happens that I have been twice round the entire Empire in a more or less official capacity as a Royal Commissioner and otherwise within the last ten years, and many Brother Knights throughout the Empire have expressed their disappointment to me that they have had nothing which they could wear when they were attending public functions typifying that they were Knights Bachelor. I hope I may be forgiven, Mr. Principal, for saying that. But it really is rather trying that every foreigner who possesses any order of chivalry appears at public functions with his decorations, and only those who belong to the most ancient of all Orders, the Degree of British Knighthood, have no decoration at all. If that point were dwelt upon by those in authority, if they thought a little of it, they would see that it is only their right that they should have something to show, when they are mixing with foreigners, that they belong to the most honourable of all Degrees, the Order which is the foundation of every other Order. (Cheers.) We have many Knights from overseas present with us to-night, including Sir George Shaw, Sir Edward Rosling, Sir Herbert Holmwood, Sir Henry Drake-Brockman, Lieut.-Col. Sir Allan Perry, all of them men of distinction. But I have to couple with this Toast the name of one whom you will all be ready to welcome, namely, that of Sir William Simpson. (Cheers.)

Sir William Simpson is, as you know, an expert on tropical diseases, and therefore, Mr. Principal, is a benefactor of mankind. Anyone who like myself has travelled about in distant parts of the earth know well what tropical diseases mean. Here, perhaps, we do not know much of them because, except in the hospitals, we do not see them; but those who have witnessed the ravages of malaria and many other diseases with which I will not deal know how terrible they are to mankind; and they know what a blessing to mankind are those able and learned men who have done so much to combat them. I allude to men like Sir William Simpson, and I should also like to mention the name of our mutual friend, Sir Ronald Ross. (Cheers.) The other day Sir Ronald Ross and I went down to Wembley together and went into the department where the tropical diseases are shown. There he and I looked at two wax models, one of which represented a certain tropical district before the present day, showing a wretched mining engineer, life size, made in wax, lying upon a couch ravaged with a sickness and evidently upon the point of dissolution—dying lonely, far away and unaided in the bush of one of our colonial dependencies. The other represents the same spot after the labours of men like Sir Ronald Ross and Sir William Simpson have dealt with it. It shows a bungalow with a verandah; it shows an English lady under the verandah; it shows a baby healthy and happy in a cradle; it shows the owner of the bungalow going out with a tennis racquet to play a game of tennis on his lawn. Of course those are meant to be dramatic ; they are meant to appeal to the public attending the Exhibition, but they achieve their end. They do show what has been done by men like our Brother Knight, Sir William Simpson, and I say God bless them for doing it. (Cheers.) I have the greatest pleasure in coupling with this Toast the name of Sir William Simpson. (Cheers.)

The Toast was enthusiastically honoured.

SIR WILLIAM SIMPSON, in responding, said : Mr. Principal and Brother Knights. When I was asked to respond to this Toast of the Overseas Members just proposed in such glowing, generous and inspiring terms by Sir Rider Haggard I felt very proud. My reasons for being so were my respect for our Principal, Sir William Bull, as the founder of the Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor ; my admiration for the brilliant services rendered to the Colonies and the Empire by Sir Rider Haggard, strengthened by the pleasure which the readers of his fascinating books would desire to express. (Hear, hear.) I am sure that the Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor has a great future before it if it acts in accordance with its Imperial name. The wide knowledge, the outlook, the sympathy and the influence, both at home and abroad, can do very much to encourage a closer association between Great Britain and every part of the Dominions, and bring about that good feeling which should exist in encouraging the common interests of every part of the Empire. Few who have not had the opportunity of visiting our overseas Dominions can realise what a magnificent and valuable Empire has been built up since good Queen Bess's time by the energy and enterprise of the British race. It is the want of realisation of this that is a danger at the present time. (Hear, hear.) We cannot afford to have ten non-Britishers to one Britisher entering into some of our Colonies, nor can we afford to have all the great nations competing with us in our Colonies on the same terms as ourselves. (Hear, hear.) Fortunately, at a very opportune moment the British Empire Exhibition has been inaugurated to show in miniature the wonderful resources of our possessions—the wonderful resources of Australia, of Canada, of South Africa, of India, of Burma and our tropical Colonies, of which the West Indies are the oldest. It will open the eyes of, and be a very great education to, those who visit Wembley to see the vastness, the riches and the possibilities of our Empire. Everything that we want can be obtained within the Empire. But it is not sufficient to possess these rich lands ; they require to be developed, and that development can only be carried out by our own nation. There are no finer countries in the world than Australia, Canada and South Africa. I speak from personal experience for I know all of them. As to our tropical possessions, of which Sir Rider Haggard has spoken, the chief requirement for their economic development is to make them fit for the white man to live in and also for the indigenous races. Now, medical science, if applied, is able to do that. (Hear, hear.) As has been mentioned, malaria is one of the greatest obstacles to that development, but it can be conquered owing to the epoch-making discovery of Sir Ronald Ross. (Cheers.) There is a movement at the present time to establish a Ross Institute of Research for carrying out research in London and to honour Sir Ronald Ross whom I consider an Empire builder in the highest sense. (Cheers.) Malaria and the parasitic diseases, illustrations of which anyone can see if they visit the Exhibition and go into the Tropical Health Section, are the diseases that destroy the health, the vigour and the productiveness of the inhabitants of this Empire. We can abolish them. Our forefathers managed to abolish slavery; they also managed to abolish inter-tribal wars in our tropical possessions, and it is our duty to abolish preventible diseases. (Hear, hear.) I hope the Exhibition will have the result of inducing members of Parliament to visit the Empire. I remember on one occasion—quite a long time ago now—a very great statesman going on board a P. & O. steamship that was going to China; he was going as the Minister to visit Gibraltar. When going on board he expressed a very strong opinion against Lascars being used on a British ship, but before he reached Gibraltar the captain explained to him that they were necessary in the Red Sea and elsewhere, and that caused him to change his mind. Now that statesman had a very receptive mind, and I am quite sure that if he had visited the whole Empire he would have taken on many occasions different views on the subject of imperial politics. I hope that the Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor will be able to persuade the public that in future no member of Parliament should hold high office unless he has visited our Empire. I also consider it is essential that the senior branches of the Colonial Office should not only visit the Colonies but serve there a year or more in order to understand their position. On behalf of the Overseas Members I thank Sir Rider Haggard for the very kind words which he has said in appreciation of the Knights overseas. I know that he is a staunch Imperialist, and I salute him with every respect. (Cheers.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Brother Knights, before I ask you to sing "God Save the King" I should like to say how extremely pleased I am at the success of our gathering to-night. We have round our dinner table a very distinguished gathering of Knights who are servants of the State in every capacity—men who have earned their reward as Knights for the yeoman service they have accomplished for the Empire. We do not think of what we can get out of the State; we think of what we can put into the State, and that is the motto by which we have wrought. (Cheers.) I should like to thank Lord FitzAlan for his extremely kind words to-night. He has encouraged us very much by his presence, and I am very grateful to him for attending. I also desire to thank my old friend, Sir Charles Allom, for the kind words he said about me, and I also should like to thank Mr. Hubert Whelbourn, our Clerk, for making such efficient arrangements for this evening's dinner. It is entirely due to him that it has been so successful. I hope we shall all meet next year, and possibly by that time we may have gone further in our quest.

I will now try and lead you in "God Save the King."

SIR EDWARD NICHOLL: Brother Knights, before we sing "God Save the King" I am sure you will all agree with me that we should toast our Chairman, our Principal and the Founder of the Imperial Society of Knights Bachelor. (Cheers.) As one of the youngest members of the Order—I am only nine years old—I therefore take the opportunity of rising to propose that we toast Sir William Bull right royally for what he has done for the Order. I ask you all to rise and sing "For he's a jolly good fellow." (Cheers.)

The Toast was enthusiastically honoured, "For he's a jolly good fellow" being heartily sung.

THE CHAIRMAN: Brother Knights, I am extremely obliged to Sir Edward Nicholl for so kindly proposing the Toast of my health and for the hearty manner in which it has been honoured. I omitted to mention among the names of our guests Mr. Ronald Wells, of the Home Office. We come into close touch with him on certain matters and we cordially welcome him here to-night.

The proceedings closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

ONE HUNDRED KNIGHTS.

At a recent meeting of the Council it was decided to compile a list of 100 of the most distinguished Members of our Degree. I here report the result of their deliberations.

The Council will be glad to receive any alterations and suggestions as they wish the list to be as perfect as possible.
